Feedback:

- We agree with in the current scope of the regulation(s) but as a major challenge for the agro & food business to produce enough food to under sustainable conditions. Food security should be added as a objective in this policy area and in balance with the other main objective.
- Transparency in the decision making process. The technical and scientific evaluation of both approvals, authorizations of active substances and MRL settings are well defined in carefully designed and conducted with clear responsibilities of the EFSA, Member States and the Commission. Despite these procedures plant protection products (PPPs) and their residues are more and more political discussion pops-up in the European Parliament at the end of this lengthy process. Causing delays and uncertainties for the industry including our products, fresh fruit and vegetables.
